

I am writing to express my concern over the centralization of media, which limits democracy by limiting number of reporters and further solidifying corporate motives that news style, duration, and content.